FOREWORD AND DEDICATION

Freshmen, we extend to you a most hearty welcome to our College. We hope that, as a Citadel man, you will not only live up to the old standards set by the men who have preceded you, but that you will continue their work in all its phases, until our institution equals the real West Point in quantity, as it has already done in spirit and quality. So if in this little book, we can help to acquaint you with the student life and activities in our college, the congenial and pleasant atmosphere that exists among the cadets, some of the traditions that we, as Citadel men, are so proud of, and the heights which are to be sought in the future—in other words if we can give you only a small start toward becoming a typical "Bull Dog"—we will feel fully repaid for everything it has cost us to give you this handbook.

Old men, we trust that you are coming back, fully aware of the fact that your institution is now expanding rapidly, and that its future depends to a great extent on your willingness to give the best that is in you. We hope that this little book will help to serve you as a reminder to be careful you do nothing you will regret when you leave your school as alumnae.

The staff takes great pleasure in dedicating the Handbook for 1927-28 to Major William C. Miller, Commandant of The Citadel. Major Miller has been with us for only one year, but already, by his fairness, and his firm but consistent actions, he has endeared himself to the whole corps. He is a natural leader, and we are fortunate to have such a man at the head of our R. O. T. C. unit. He has shown himself willing to help the cadets at all times, therefore we feel, that in this respect he is really a part of the Y also.

MARKS OF A CADET

Citadel Cadets—

Do not speak of each other as "boys" or "fellows" but as "cadets" or "men".

Do not indulge in horse play or gamboling while on leave.

Do not chew gum at dances or while on leave.

Pay particular attention that the uniform while on leave is worn with entire correctness.

Hold themselves consciously erect at all times. Never slouch.

Caution other cadets in regard to improprieties, such as the above, which they may be committing.

HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS FOR FRESHMEN

Upon arrival, turn your baggage checks over to an agent of the Craige Transfer Co. This company is always helpful and obliging to cadets, and it will see that all your baggage gets to you at the Citadel barracks.

Be on the lookout for men in the Citadel uniform. They represent The Citadel Y. M. C. A. and are there to help you and see that you find your way to the college without difficulty. So don't be afraid to call on them.

You are required to meet a formation at ten o'clock on the morning you report. This will be your first formation as a Citadel cadet, so start off right by being on time.

From this formation until you acquire your freshman degree and become a sophomore, always do as you are told. You will get more consideration if you are modest and conscientious, so drop your "Dignified High School Senior" air and start over again.

Watch your step, the advertisements of those who helped to give this book, the bulletin boards, the delinquency sheets, the demerit book; and by all means your text books. Start the first month off right by studying hard and pulling down a good average. The first impression counts the most you know, and a bad beginning is hard to live down.

Look up the Y Secretary, get acquainted, and tell him your troubles. He is there to help you and is always glad to serve. No request or favor is too small for his attention.

Don't get the wrong impression of the professors. You will find them friendly too and always anxious to help you, if you show yourself willing.

Carry the handbook with you everywhere you go, learn the Alma Mater, and the songs and yells, and get that old "Bull Dog Spirit".

BOOST YOUR SCHOOL

If you want to boost the kind of a school
Like the kind of a school you like,
You don't have to slip your books in a grip
And start on a long, long hike;
You'll only find what you left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new.
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your school,
Because it isn't your school—it's you.

Good schools are not made by boys afraid
Lest somebody else gets ahead;
If everyone works and nobody shirks
You can raise a school from the dead.
And if while you make your personal stake
Your neighbor has made one too,
Your school will be what you want it to be,
Because it isn't your school—it's you.

ISN'T IT TRUE?

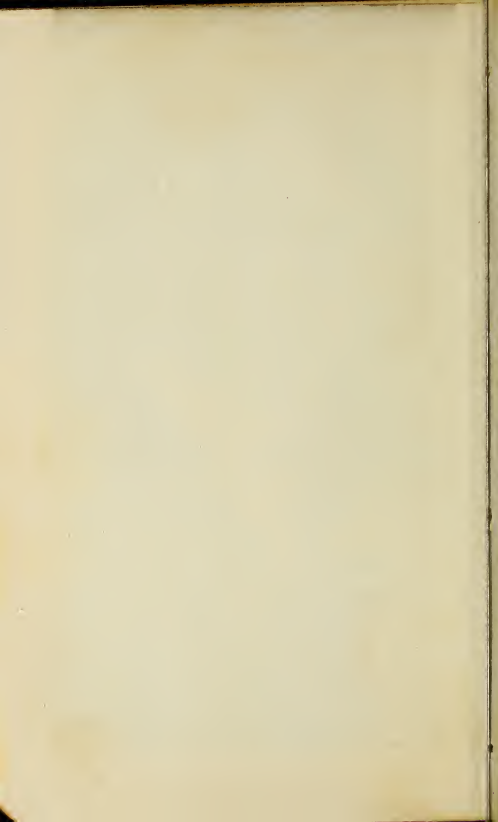

It is a peculiar thing that a fellow who most needs to go to the prayer meeting eight days out of every week is never there. The man who most needs to stay away from the unclean show is always at the show. The one who most needs to keep sober is the one who is drunk. The sick man is the one who most dislikes to take his medicine. It is the ignoramus that has the most confidence in his own opinions. The man who talks the most is the one who has the least to say. The biggest fool is the wisest in his own conceit. The worst hypocrite is the most severe in his arraignment of hypocrites. The man who is farthest down on the road to Hell is the most confident that there is no Hell. The deepest sinner expects to get to Heaven on his own goodness. The man who knows least about the work of the church thinks he knows best how the church ought to be run. The greatest saint thinks he is the chief of sinners.

Cadets, when you are on leave, patronize the concerns whose names you see in this book as advertisers. They have made this little book possible by their generous help, and in turn should be patronized to the fullest extent by you. They are friends to you and The Citadel, so give them your support in return. The handbook staff wishes to thank these concerns for their help. We appreciate your generosity more than we can express.

THE FELLOWS WHO STICK

When the game has gone against you,
And your back is to the wall:
When the luck has simply left you,
And your pride seems like to fall;
Though defeat appears quite certain,
And at heart you're feeling sick;
Don't despair—fight to the finish—
Stick it out, lad—always stick!

When the clouds loom dark and cheerless,
And you're scorned, discouraged, crossed;
When the future seems quite hopeless,
And you fear your cause is lost;
Don't be tempted then to falter,
Fate oft plays this scurvy trick;
Stick it out and WIN—keep smiling—
Don't give in, lad—always stick!

THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

Brief Sketch of History

The Young Men's Christian Association, like all great organizations, had its origin in one man. Sir George Williams of London, England. He was a poor lad, who worked in a drapery establishment in the city of London, but who found time to speak a word for his Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Feeling the deep need for daily prayer and spiritual uplift, he called together a number of his companions, and each morning they held a prayer meeting in an upper room of that establishment. Their group kept growing, and soon they had quite a following. From this group grew what is today known as the foremost organization for the carrying of the Gospel of Jesus Christ to young men throughout the world. The Young Men's Christian Association. Ever since that date, 1844, this Association has continued to grow, until today it encircles the globe; bringing together young men and boys into a brotherhood that keeps alive the spirit of Christ.

The Student Young Men's Christian Association, of which we are a part, is one of the many branches of this great organization, and it works for the uplift and welfare of the young men in colleges throughout the world. Its membership runs into the thousands, and other Associations are being formed every year. Most associations have secretaries to head up the work, but the students of the college are the chief promoters and workers in the associations. They are student organizations, and it is the duty and privilege of every student to back them in the best way possible.

OBJECT

1. To lead students to faith in God through Jesus Christ.
2. To lead them into membership and service in the Christian church.
3. To promote their growth in Christian faith and character, especially through the study of the Bible and daily prayer.
4. To influence them to devote themselves in united effort with all Christians to making the Will of Christ effective in human society and extending the Kingdom of God throughout the world.

MEMBERSHIP

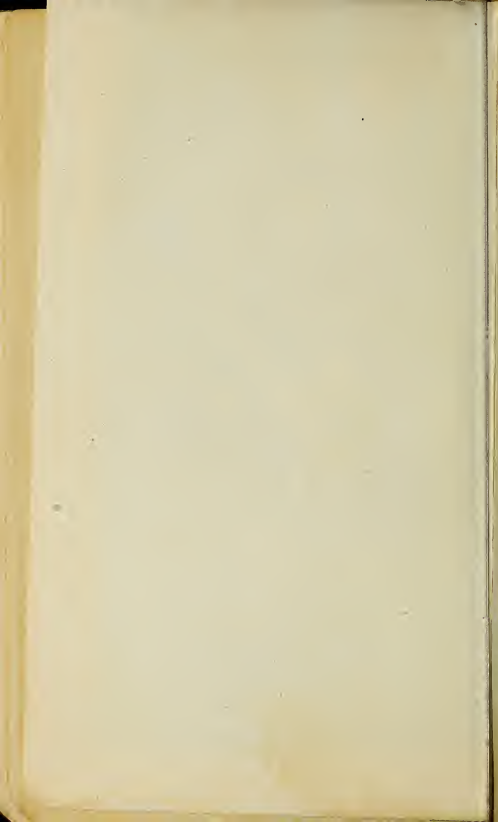

Every student of The Citadel is at matriculation an associate member of the Young Men's Christian Association. Thus, each man should lend his utmost effort towards the building up of a greater and stronger organization, showing his interest by helping in every way he can to carry on the work, and not hindering it. According to the constitution of the International Y. M. C. A. the active members consist of those students who are members of Evangelical churches and who are alone allowed to vote and hold office.

SUPERVISION

The work of the Association is conducted under the supervision of the Cabinet and the Advisory Board. The Cabinet is composed of the secretary, the officers and chairmen of standing committees.

F. G. BURNETT
President Y. M. C. A., 1927-28

SCOPE OF WORK

What is the Y. M. C. A. at The Citadel and for what purpose does it exist? It is a live, always active organization, made up of every Cadet in school, existing for the purpose of serving the corps as a whole as well as individually, not only in religious matters, but in every way possible. It makes every effort in its power to carry out the great aim, "A clean mind in a sound body." Don't get the idea that the Y is a puritanical, inhuman kind of an organization. It is just the opposite, a young man's association in every respect; and there is much fun as well as help in it for you, if you will just take part.

The Y staff is made up of some of the best type and most representative men of the school. They are always glad to serve you, and take great pleasure in helping you out of any kind of a tight place. So bring your wrinkles to them and let them iron them out for you. Likewise, the Y secretary will be more than a friend to you, and is always looking for an opportunity to be of service.

The Y holds special services on Sunday night. There are also many other meetings at other times. There are always good speakers, and often good song services and if you've never gotten together with a bunch of men in a service like this, you've certainly missed something. Interesting slides and moving pictures are often shown. On the rifle range these pictures are particularly enjoyed. Efforts are also made to give those men who do not go out for the major sports an opportunity to get some exercise and fun. Thus different games are promoted by the secretary in the evenings after classes. These things are for all the cadets, so get in the habit of taking part in them, and make the Y even bigger and better.

ADVANTAGES OF THE SMUTTY STORY

It advertises a man's ignorance.

It displays a sense of lack of propriety.

It indicates an undesirable state of inner character.

It reveals the nature of the fiber of the soul.

It shows that the man's better self is not in control.

It illustrates sordiness of soul when not unrestrained.

It means meagerness of resources for entertainment.

It proclaims courseness of one's idea of humor.

It is the poorest sort of excuse for fun.

It reveals a fissure in character, which when widened, cracks.

It suggest the possibility of greater defilement.

It proves a disappointment to every right thinking friend.

It stupifies the testimony of other good friends.

It soils the inner life of every hearer.

It hangs pictures in the chamber of imagination.

ANNUAL SPRING RETREAT

In April 1926 there was started something that will stay a long time we trust with the cabinet. That was the Annual Spring Retreat. At the time we journeyed to Summerville, where we spent the whole day, in preparation for our work next Fall. It being on a Sunday, we were able to get some outstanding business men and members of the faculty to take part in the program, and, as one of the cadets expressed it, it was Blue Ridge on a small scale. Thus, each year the cabinet picks out a small town to go to, sets up a fine program, and every man consecrates himself to better work for his Master, his college, and his Association.

SUNDAY NIGHT RELIGIOUS SERVICE

Every Sunday night right after supper the Y has a religious service which is always attended by many of the cadets. This meeting usually consists of a song service and a good talk by someone, who is engaged by the secretary. Sometimes, however, some society or organization from the city comes out and puts on a very interesting program for the cadets. But whatever may be the program, these services are always interesting and enjoyable. Don't let anything keep you away from them, for much good may be obtained from every single one. Whatever it may cost you in other respects, the spirit and higher ideals which will become yours for the attendance of such services will more than make up the deficit. So be sure to get the habit of going from the very first. You will find these services just the thing with which to end a week-end of pleasures. Moreover, you will find that by starting the coming week of classes and studying in this way, you will feel more disposed to do your work, and can accomplish more no matter what you undertake.

MORNING WATCH

Every athlete will tell you that he who practices most is better able to keep up the race. So with the life of a Christian; he who prays most, lives closer to Christ and is better able to overcome the barriers and win the race of life. So be sure to get in the prayer group nearest your company, and every morning just after reveille meet with this group, and devote just a few minutes to the worship of God. If you start the day off this way, you cannot go wrong for the remaining twenty-three hours and fifty-nine minutes.

BLUE RIDGE

Perhaps you have heard of Blue Ridge before; if you are an old boy, of course you have. But anyway, Blue Ridge is the name of the Y conference held every summer in the mountains near Blue Ridge, N. C. The scenery in this part of the state is noted for its beauty, and the only way to get an idea of the supreme gift of these mountains towards man's gratification is to spend some time among them.

There is a wonderful schedule offered those who attend the conference. Most interesting talks are given every morning by men from all parts of the world. Then the conference is divided up into groups and special phases of work taken up by each group. Every evening work is discontinued and time is given to hiking, swimming, playing basketball, tennis, volley ball, or any other sport. At night there are more interesting talks. The meals are of the best, and anyone who has spent the day playing about the mountains, knows how a good meal is enjoyed. There were about three hundred boys and girls at the camp last summer, eight of them from The Citadel, and all were most enthusiastic over the ten days they spent at Blue Ridge.

But while one is having such an unbeatable time, much benefit of another kind is obtained. The true value of the conference lies in the training of leaders of the various schools represented and giving them something to think about when they return to their respective colleges. All important college problems are discussed and the students viewpoint is broadened so that he can better understand them.

So when the call for delegates to Blue Ridge comes, see the secretary and sign up for a pleasant vacation next summer.

CONFERENCES

Of course Blue Ridge is one of the best and most popular conferences that is held in the South by the Y. M. C. A. It is always well attended by all the schools of the South and has a most representative body of delegates. But there are a number of other good conferences also that are held each year for students.

Among these conferences, there is the Student Volunteer Conference held at some place in the state, to which The Citadel always sends delegates.

Once every four years a conference is held somewhere in the United States of the Student International Volunteer Movement. Year before last it was held at Milwaukee. There are other conferences which are held from time to time, and The Citadel always tries to send delegates to all of them.

THE Y. M. C. A. POSTOFFICE

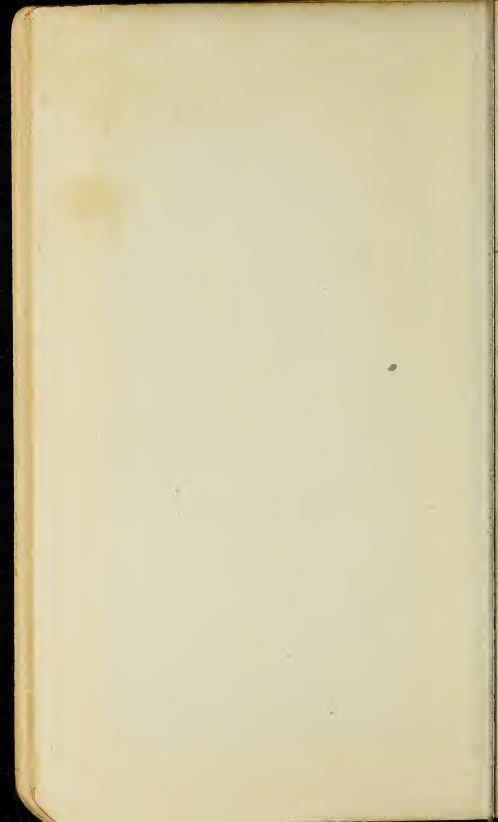

The handling of the mail for the whole college is one of the responsibilities of the Y. With the increase in the size of the corps, the postoffice had to be enlarged and a new system of delivery installed. Now each cadet has his own individual box, a great improvement over the cumbersome old system. The mail comes in and is taken out twice daily. This gives quick, efficient service on incoming and outgoing mail. Always co-operate with those who are putting the mail up, and the efficiency of the service you get will be so much the better. When the mail comes in, refrain from loud talking and unnecessary noises in order that you may get yours quicker. Be sure to always sign for insured, registered and special delivery articles, or you will be called back to do so. You may get your stamps, money orders, and all other necessities of a postoffice here. If you do not get the service you think you should, take your complaint directly to the secretary. He will right any wrongs, and is always glad to hear helpful suggestions.

THE CANTEEN

The canteen is a small store located in the Main Barracks building. It is under the supervision of one of the faculty members and a cadet manager. It handles all kinds of sweets, drinks, fruits, stationery, pennants, toilet articles, polish, etc., in short, every thing that a fellow would want on short notice. It takes the place of the drug store or fountain at home, and is generally crowded when it is open. So before going up town for something, give the canteen a chance to satisfy your needs. You may find there just what you want and not have to carry it from up-town.

IN A POUT

The sorriest sight in the world, no doubt,
Is a man or woman in a pout;
A great big man with a "grouch" hung out
When nobody knows what it's all about.
Or a woman, made to be heartsome cheer,
Adding a gloom to the atmosphere.
You may be queer, and I may be queer—
But let's keep our part of the sky-line clear.

For the sunniest day wears a cloudy pall,
When a pout appears, a cyclone squall;
While each one present prepares to crawl
Clear into his shell and the stars 'most fall—
When the grin turns down, and the lips stick out

(Sure case of egotistical gout,)
Yea, the littl'st sight in the world, no doubt,
Is a great big guy in a great big pout!

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE CITADEL

Previous to the year 1841, the State of South Carolina had two depositories for its arms and munitions of war:—The Citadel in Charleston, and The Arsenal in Columbia. These were guarded by companies of enlisted men, with trained Officers, and were maintained at an expense of twenty-four thousand dolalrs per annum.

It was Gov. Richardson who made the suggestion that these garrisons be replaced by young men, who, while serving as guard, should receive military training, and instruction in the practical and mechanical arts. Under the administration of his successor, Gov. Hammond, an Act of the Legislature was passed in 1842 creating The Citadel and Arsenal Academies.

The Board appointed by the Governor to carry out the purpose of the Act lost no time in performing their duty, and the Faculty of The Citadel was elected on Feb. 23rd. following. By March 20th both The Citadel and The Arsenal were in operation.

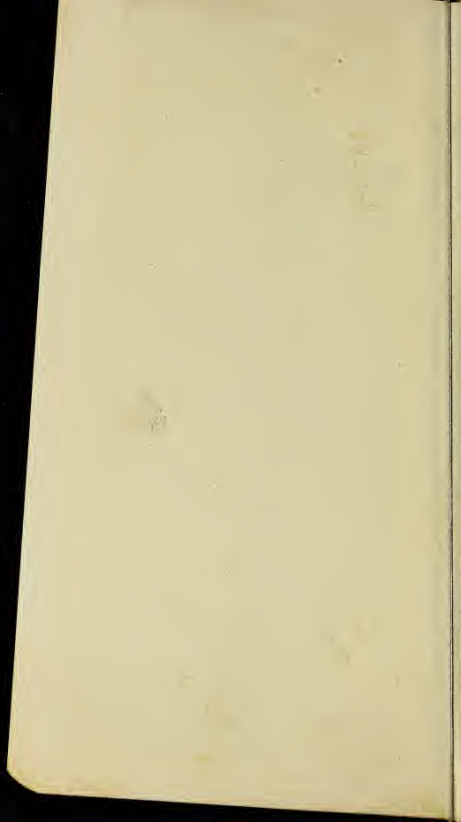

In arranging the course of studies for The Citadel, the report of the Board to the General Assembly says: "The Board have aimed at a system of education at once scientific and practical, and which, if their original design is carried out, will eminently qualify the cadets there taught for almost any station and condition of life."

The Arsenal, at first co-equal with The Citadel, was soon incorporated with it, and had for its special function the instruction and training of recruits forming what was known as the Fourth Class.

The first class, numbering six men, was graduated in 1848. C. C. Tew, first honor man of his class, afterwards founded the Hillsboro Military Academy in North Caroolina, was Colonel of N. C. troops in the Confederate Army, and killed at Sharpsburg, Sept. 1862, while commanding Anderson's Brigade.

MAIN BARRACKS

The value to the State of the military training given at The Citadel is strikingly shown by the fact that, of the two hundred and forty graduates before the War between the States, about two hundred were officers in the Confederate service, and forty three laid down their lives upon the battlefield. The list of Citadel officers in that great conflict is an honor roll of which any institution may well be proud.

There are two dates in the history of the State Military Academy which mark the boundaries of this greatest military struggle of the century. Between Jan. 9, 1861, and May 9, 1865, what a tragic history was enacted!

On the former date, Maj. P. F. Stevens, Superintendent, and a graduate of The Citadel, in command of a detachment of Citadel Cadets manning a battery of 24-pounders on Morris Island, drove off the steamer, "Star of the West," which was attempting to relieve Fort Sumter—thus firing the first hostile shot of the War.

On the later date, Capt. J. P. Thomas, Superintendent of The Arsenal, and also a graduate of The Citadel, with the cadets of his command, had a skirmish with Stonemans raiders near Williston, S. C., thus firing the last shot of the War delivered by any body of troops east of the Mississippi River.

At the present time, the corps of cadets has an annual drill for the "Star of the West" medal, a handsome trophy for the best-drilled cadet of the corps, presented to the institution many years ago by Dr. B. H.

Teague, a veteran of the War. This medal gets its name from a piece of wood, in the form of a star, taken from the historic vessel.

At the fall of Charleston, in February, 1865, The Citadel was occupied by Federal troops. The corps of cadets was at that time in the field in the upper part of the State, and never returned to the institution, which continued in the hands of the United States military authorities, in spite of the best efforts of the State to recover it, until 1881.

In that year Gov. Hagood said in his annual message to the General Assembly: "The State Military Academy at Charleston has been suspended in its operations since the late Civil War. This has been due to the fact that the building known as The Citadel in which it has its seat, has been since the close of the War in the possession of the United States authorities, and has been used by them until recently as a military post.

"It is understood that the General Government is now prepared to restore it to the custody of the State. It is desirable that this property be recovered, and again devoted to the purpose of higher education, in the facilities for which our needs are greater than the source of supply."

An Act to authorize the re-opening of The South Carolina Military Academy was passed by the General Assembly and approved January 31, 1882.

The Citadel was re-opened on Oct. 1st, 1882, with 189 cadets, and has been in continuous and successful operation ever since.

In 1888 the sum of $77,250 was recovered from Congress for the occupation of the Citadel building by the Federal troops, and for the destruction of the west wing by fire while occupied by them. With this fund the Wing was restored, and the building thoroughly equipped in its departments.

In 1908, the Central Police Station, which was erected on the King Street end of the Citadel property, just after the earthquake in 1886, was purchased by the State, and fitted up for the use of the college.

In 1910, the Legislature fixed the title of the institution as "The Citadel, The Military College of South Carolina." In the same year an appropriation was made for the construction of the Meeting Street Extension, thus completing the design and furnishing equipment for all the anticipated needs of the institution.

But the college soon demanded larger quarters and, to meet this need, in 1918, the City of Charleston offered the State a magnificent tract of nearly 200 acres of land adjacent to Hampton Park, beautifully situated on the Ashley River, for a "Greater Citadel." The Legislature accepted the offer and in 1918 and 1920 made appropriations for the necessary buildings.

During the next two years the construction of the new plant was in progress, and the session of 1922-23 opened in the commodious quarters which had been provided at a cost of more than a million dollars. The college facilities in laboratories and classrooms have been largely increased, dormitory accommodations have been enlarged forty per cent, and ample and beautiful grounds for all military work and athletic activities have been provided.

ASSOCIATION OF GRADUATES

The Association of Graduates, organized in 1877, has been an active agent in promoting the best interests of the Alma Mater. All graduates and all cadets who have been honorably discharged from The Citadel or permitted to retire are eligible for membership in the Association of Grads. To become a member of this organization is not only a privilege, but a duty that every former cadet owes to his Alma Mater. All Citadel men know that The Citadel, in its class, is not surpassed by any military college in the United States and is the "West Point of the South."

With hearty co-operation of the Alumni, The Citadel has grown with leaps and bounds. The Military College of South Carolina is being put on the map.

The annual banquet is held on the night before Commencement and the graduating class is invited to be present so that they may all be assembled at once with previous graduates before scattering once more. The members of this class become members of the Association the first year without payment of any dues, but after this year they are expected to pay the small annual fee of two dollars, or twenty-four dollars for life membership.

NEW BUILDINGS

As the result of a drive for "A Bigger and Better Citadel" the Corps of Cadets increased so rapidly the past two years that it became necessary to build quarters in which to accommodate the large number of new men. A friend of The Citadel, Mr. A. B. Murray, realizing this great need, made it possible to erect a new barracks building by donating the liberal sum of $150,000 which was matched by an equal appropriation by the state legislature.

Following these appropriations, we find the New Murray Barracks, on the north side of the State Barracks, completed and capable of accommodating approximately three hundred cadets, besides having several class rooms on the ground floor. There is also under construction at present a fine apartment house, to be used as officers' quarters, and a home for the president of the college.

All of these things show the growth of our school, and every cadet and alumnus feels indebted to the one who has rendered so much aid to the school. Along with the growth of our college, we are sure that the "Y" will grow also, and it is hoped that there will soon be a completely furnished recreation room for the use of all. We know that co-operation is necessary to put all this across, so let's get together and reach our goal.

THE CITADEL

The Military College of South Carolina

The aim of the Citadel is to fit students by discipline and study for all the walks of civil life, and if necessary, to serve their country in time of war.

Thoro courses in mathematics, science, and languages offer an attractive program to young men who desire careers in professional life.

There is a lot of hard work at The Citadel, but there is time provided for necessary play. Athletics, social functions, literary societies, and the Y. M. C. A. give the Cadets relaxation from study and training in moral, physical, and social qualities.

HONOR SYSTEM OF THE CORPS OF
THE CITADEL.

We, the members of the Corps of Cadets of The Citadel, earnestly desiring to develop the honor spirit of the Corps into a system that will fortify the strong members of the Corps, strengthen the weak ones and eliminate any who may be so depraved as to hold in disregard the principles of truth and honor which are the chief glory of any institution and which we are determined to inculcate and defend as the most treasured possession of the student body of The Citadel, do ordain and establish this honor system for the Corps of Cadets of The Citadel.

PRINCIPLES.

1. The honor spirit of the Corps of Cadets of The Citadel demands of every cadet that he shall be an honorable gentleman, and that he will never, while a member of the Corps, be guilty of an act reflecting discredit upon his honor and integrity, or in any way countenance such an act by a fellow cadet or allow it to go unpunished.

2. The honor spirit of the Corps further holds that it is the duty of an honorable gentleman to avoid, as far as possible, even the appearance of evil, and demands that every member of the Corps shall exercise the greatest care never to place himself in a position in which he might be suspected of dishonorable conduct.

* * * *

It is always a sign of poverty of mind where men are ever seeming to appear great, for they who are really great never seem to know it.

RULES

I. CORPS HONOR COMMITTEE

1. There shall be a corps honor committee of nine members, constituted as follows: Three members from the first class, and two members from each of the other upper classes. For each member of the committee there shall be a substitute, and the substitute for a member shall belong to the same class as the member, and shall take the member's place at all meetings which he cannot attend, and in the event of the removal of a member from the committee, shall succeed to his place on the committee.

2. The members of the committee and the substitutes to serve during the ensuing year shall be elected by the three respective upper classes from which they are elected at the end of each school session and the names of those so elected shall be announced at the graduation exercises.

3. Immediately after any election, each newly elected member and substitute shall be installed in office by taking the following obligation in the presence of the old members and substitutes: "I, John Doe, of my own free will and accord, do hereby, in the presence of God and this honorable body, sincerely promise to discharge the duties of the office into which I am now inducted to the best of my knowledge and ability, and I solemnly engage to be faithful to the trust reposed in me so far as it lies in my power to do so."

4. Members and substitutes shall hold office until their successors have been duly chosen and installed.

5. The committee shall elect from its members a chairman and a secretary who will hold office until their successors have been duly chosen.

II.—DUTIES OF CORPS HONOR COMMITTEE

1. The Corps honor committee shall make a thorough investigation of all alleged violations of the honor code of the corps. Convictions by the committee shall be by unanimous vote: other findings or decisions shall be by majority vote.

2. The committee shall interpret the honor code and rules whenever called on to do so, and shall see that the president is duly informed of all interpretations, and that they are properly published to the cadets.

3. The committee shall keep a complete record, in classified forms of all its proceedings.

4. If at any time the committee feels the need of counsel that only men of mature years can give, it shall call into conference some member or members of the faculty.

5. The members of the committee and the substitutes shall hold a REGULAR MEETING at 9 a. m. on the first Sunday of each month during the academic year, or as soon thereafter as practicable, and, if possible, ways and means of making it finer and purer devised.

III.—DUTIES OF MEMBERS OF THE CORPS

1. It shall be the duty of every cadet who knows of any violation of the honor code of the corps to report the same to the corps honor committee, and to give full and free testimony before the committee when the case is under investigation.

2. It shall also be the duty of every cadet who can give material testimony as to any case under investigation to report this fact to the committee, and, when called, to appear before it and give full and free testimony.

IV.—RIGHTS OF CADETS CHARGED WITH VIOLATING HONOR CODE.

1. A cadet whose integrity is under investigation by the honor committee shall be entitled to counsel from the corps or faculty.

2. Upon the completion of any investigation, the accused shall be notified of the finding of the committee; and if the finding be "Guilty," the accused shall be further notified that if necessary all the facts in the case will be reported to the president at office hours the following day.

3. A cadet found guilty of violating the honor code by the honor committee, shall have the right to appeal from its decision to the president, who will take such action as his judgment may dictate.

4. The honor committee shall be provided with a private office, furnished to meet its needs, in which all of its meetings shall be held. Over the door of this office shall be inscribed in gold letters HONOR COMMITTEE.

V.—GENERAL MEETING OF CORPS AT OPENING SESSION.

1. At the opening of the new session, and before new cadets have matriculated, a general meeting of the corps shall be held, at which the honor code and rules shall be explained to the members of the corps, more especially to the new ones, by the members of the honor committee and such others as may be present for the purpose.

THE STUDENTS HANDBOOK

APPENDIX

Resolutions.

1. Resolved, That the officers of the faculty be requested to approve this system and to co-operate with the cadets now at The Citadel and those who will enter in years to come in establishing and enforcing it.

2. Resolved, That the Academic Officers be requested to report to the honor committee any violating of the honor code that may come to their attention and to appear before the committee and give testimony when the case is under investigation, and also to notify the committee as to any material testimony that they could give in a case otherwise reported to the committee, and to appear before it when called.

3. Resolved, That it is the sense of the corps of cadets that a member of the faculty should be present during all examinations and class-room tests that count towards a cadet's graduation, for the purpose of giving proper dignity to the exercises and maintaining law and order, (and resolved further, that such member of the faculty, although not present for espionage, be requested to report to the honor committee any violation of the honor code that he may observe during an examination or test).

4. Resolved, That the members of the faculty be requested to take every possible precaution to seat cadets taking examinations and tests in such a manner as to enable them to avoid the appearance of evil without subjecting themselves to inconvenience or physical discomfort.

5. Resolved, That the authorities of The Citadel be requested to provide an office, properly furnished, for the use of the honor committee.

VI.—VIOLATIONS

For the information and guidance of the Corps of Cadets, the following interpretations are hereby placed on the following things by the Corps Honor Committee:

1. "All Right Sir" on coming on sentinels post. After reporting "All right sir" on coming on sentinels' posts, one cannot break barracks or visit; one cannot go to the latrines or loiter on the gallery for the purpose of selling articles, raffling them off, or filling out dance cards. This does not apply to loitering while on authorized business, i. e., if you are going to the latrine or other authorized place on authorized business, and some one calls you as you pass his room, you can find out what he wants, (this is merely punishable by military authority), or if you are in the latrine or anywhere else on authorized business, you may talk to other boys after you have finished. One cannot throw things on the quadrangle after reporting "All right sir." One cannot report and go to the cadet canteen to get things during unauthorized hours.

NOTE:—After a cadet reports, this report holds good until he returns to his room.

2. The report "All right sir" at the inspection of the first relief means that all occupants of the room are in, or officially absent, and that no one is visiting.

3. At the inspection of the second and third relief, the report means that no one is visiting in the room.

4. When a sentinel reports "All is well", on being relieved, this means that he has reported all cadets, who at any time during his tour of duty, have visited across his post in so far as he knows; also that he has required all cadets to report "All right, sir" on coming on his post and has reported all those who failed to do so; also that he has made the required inspections and has reported all cadets visiting at those times. In case of the first relief it also means that he has reported all unofficial absentees. In case the lights are off in any room, a sentinel is required to turn them on and inspect the room, to see that no one is visiting there. "All right sir" or any deceiving report is a violation of the honor code.

5. DANCE LEAVE. When a cadet reports "All right sir" when returning from a dance, he signifies that he has complied with the following rules:

a. That he was at the dance at 12 midnight and that he did not thereafter leave the dance except to return to the Citadel or as covered in "b" below. Use of dance leave in order to secure late leave to which a cadet is not entitled or for which he has not signed out, is a violation of the honor code.

b. If a cadet has a lady at a dance, he has one hour after the dance breaks up to use as he sees fit, or if he leaves before the dance is over, he must report back by the end of general leave, or one hour after he leaves the dance, as the case may be. If the cadet does not have a lady at the dance, he has 15 minutes after the dance is over. He can use this 15 minutes to return to barracks.

IT SHOWS IN YOUR FACE

You don't have to tell
How you live every day;
You need not reveal
If you work or you play,
For a trusty barometer's
Always in place—
However you live
It will show in your face.

The truth or deceit
You would hide in your heart,
They will not stay inside
When once given a start,
Sinews and blood are like
Thin veils of lace—
What you wear in your heart
You must wear on your face.

If you've battled and won
In the great game of life,
If you've striven and conquered
Thru sorrow and strife
If you've played the game fair
But reached only first base—
No need to proclaim it;
It shows in your face.

If your life is unselfish
And for others you live,
For not what you get,
But how much you can give;
If you live close to God
In His Infinite grace—
You don't have to tell it.
It shows in your face.

NINE REASONS FOR GOING TO CHURCH

1. In this actual world, a churchless community, a community where men have abandoned and scoffed at or ignored their religious needs, is a community on the rapid downgrade.

2. Church work and church attendance mean the cultivation of the habit of feeling some responsibility for others.

3. There are enough holidays for most of us. Sundays differ from other holidays in the fact that there are fifty-two of them every year—therefore on Sundays go to church.

4. Yes, I know all the excuses. I know that everyone can worship the Creator in a grove of trees, or by a running brook, or in a man's own home just as well as in a church. But I also know as a matter of fact the average man does not thus worship.

5. He may not hear a good sermon at church. He will hear a sermon by a good man who, with his good wife, is engaged all the week in making hard lives a little easier.

6. He will listen to and take part in reading some beautiful passages from the Bible. And if he is not familiar with the Bible, he has suffered a loss.

7. He will take part in singing some good hymns.

8. He will meet and nod or speak to good, quiet neighbors. He will come away feeling a little more charitable toward all the world, even towards excessively foolish young men who regard church going as a soft performance.

9. I advocate a man's joining in church work for the sake of showing his faith by his works.

NOBILITY

A snap for the glitter and glamor and sheen ;
Pomp ne'er was nobility's banner ;
Earth's gems could not give the true lady
her mien,
Nor buy the true gentleman's manner !

'Tis inborn-nobility's wombed in the soul ;
A fig for pomposity's trumpet ;
The sea sparkles brightest when hiding a shoal—
A crown will flash from a strumpet !

Your breeding is not in the waist-coat you wear,
'Tis welled in the heart underneath it ;
If lacking the germ of nobility there,
No silk ever loomed can bequeath it !

Go, have the true gentleman schackled in bands
Go, brand his brow slave in huge letters ;
The poise of his head as he fills your commands,
Will make the horde envy his fetters !

Tut ! poverty ne'er was nobility's bane,
Its duress but tends to endear it—
I sing it twice over, then thrum it again
Nobility's born of the spirit !

FOOTBALL

Last year's football season found The Citadel with a schedule which was, almost without question, the most difficult one of all her career. However, Citadel may well be proud of her team. The season was in many respects the most brilliant one of several years.

The highest spots were the victories over Mercer, Carolina, and Oglethorpe. In each of these games Citadel upset the dope completely and defeated teams which were supposed to be superior to the Military College's, by a splendid display of Bull Dog aggressiveness and fight both on offense and defense. Indeed Citadel's defense was very strong. It repeatedly stopped drives that seemed almost sure to score. Citadel truly had an "offensive defense". Other important victories were those over Stetson, Newberry, Wofford, and Clemson.

Citadel suffered three defeats. She lost to the University of Chattanooga in perhaps the hardest game of the year by a score of 6—3. Again she held the little end of a 7—0 score when the game with Furman ended. Finally, P. C. was victorious over us in the last game of the year with a score of 9—0.

The letter men were: Capt. Ephie Seabrook and Still, H., guards; Ingram, L., Wilson, B., and Brinker, centers; Figg, King, P., and Westmoreland, tackles; Denham, Brown, D., Reeder, Doyle, and Sweetenburg, ends; Blanding and Hutchison, T., quarters; Kilpatrick, Duvall, E., and Weeks, halves. Brown, G. and Youngblood, fulls; and Kizer, P., manager. They were the Citadel varsity. All honor to them as well as the scrubs!

Although Citadel loses many of these men, and in spite of the fact that she has a more difficult schedule than ever, she has high hopes for a successful season in 1927.

BASKETBALL

At first call for basketball practice for the season of '27 a squad of about fifty men reported to our new coach, Benny Blatt. This able leader, with the cooperation of Johnny Douglas, our star captain, and of the whole squad developed a fast and successful team. Only two games of the eighteen played were lost. Both of these games were lost to Furman University, who by defeating The Citadel the second time, gained a slightly better percentage and won the state championship. However, The Citadel came back the next week, and in the third annual S. I. A. A. tournament, which was held in Charleston, won the championship of that association. All of the state colleges entered the tournament except the University of South Carolina and Clemson. Of these teams all were eliminated in their first games except The Citadel, who won the final game from Mercer University.

The Citadel averaged 41 points per game. That is a splendid record when it is remembered that eighteen strenuous games were played against some of the strongest teams from five different Southern States. Johnny Douglas was individual high scorer in the tournament and for the team, scoring 259 points throughout the season. Johnson was next on the team, scoring 202 points. Out of this championship team only one man graduates. The loss of that one man, Johnny Douglas, will be felt very greatly indeed. Following the leadership of Eugene Figg next year's captain, however, the basketball team should come through and do bigger and better things for The Citadel. The men who made letters are as follows: Douglas (captain), Duvall H. (manager), Weeks, Johnson, G., Figg, Willard, W., Reeder, Armstrong, Epps.

COLLEGE NIGHT

Shortly after the beginning of each school year, there is one night called "College Night". A "swell feed" is prepared by our matron, Mrs. Avinger, and this in itself would be hard for anyone to forget.

But that isn't all! Practically everyone who is a "head man" has something to say about his work. This includes the captains of the various athletic teams, editors of the Sphinx and Bull Dog, president of the college, other members of the faculty, and the alumni.

Throughout the night there is displayed that old "Bull Dog Spirit". The freshmen learn that the saying "Once a Citadel man, always a Citadel man" is true. As the days pass this spirit will grow, but there will always be a reverting thought to the night when that tenacious "Bull Dog Spirit" was first instilled into them and their Alma Mater made its first lasting impression.

BASEBALL

A large number of men reported to our new coach, Matty Mathews, former Sally League ball player, for practice for the season of 1927. Assisted by Capt. D. S. McAlister coach Mathews picked a team which gave promises for a great future. Up to the time that this book went to press the team had made one trip up state, playing first the Parris Island Marines, and then taking on Newberry, P. C., and Erskine. Another trip is scheduled up state, when the team is to play Carolina, Wofford and Furman. Although the results so far this year have not been as good as hoped for, it is certain that the men have improved steadily and are going to wind up the season in fine style.

The following is a list of the players: Shillito, captain, DesChamps, Livingston, Thompson, M., Griffin, Reeder, Boyleston, W., Duncan, M., Vandiver, Hutchison, T., Howie, Douglas, Drummond, Sweetenburg, Sessions, Reed, Suber, Stukes, J., and Barnes.

TRACK

Track has not been taken very seriously at The Citadel for the past few years. Indeed, there has been a shameful lack of interest in the sport. Last year, however, track began to be talked of more and more; and it is hoped that 1927-28 will show a decided improvement in The Citadel's showing. There was a very promising number of freshmen out training every day last spring. With their help the coaches and track supporters are planning big things for the future. Last year there was quite a promising bit of material out for the team, but no chance had been given them to prove their worth up until the time this book Went to Press.

TENNIS

Tennis is one of the most popular minor sports at The Citadel. The six courts are crowded every afternoon, and it is hoped that more courts will be supplied in the near future in order to accommodate the ever-increasing number of enthusiasts. The team last year got a late start and entered the meets with very little practice. They were, therefore, not very successful. The season is not yet finished, however, as this book goes to press, and with plenty of practice the netmen should be able to redeem their record in the remaining games. The popular interest in the sport is rapidly increasing and should foretell better success for the team in the future. Be sure to remember to bring that racket down next September and start getting in shape to help your school in the spring matches.

SWIMMING

Each year interest in swimming has steadily increased. As we go to press too early to get an account of the feats of this team, very little can be said of it. A large number have reported for practice however, and a very creditable team has been chosen. A number of freshmen and sophomores have been included on this team, giving promise for even better teams in the future. A meet with Georgia Tech., who have just returned from a tour of the North, has been held in the Ashley Hall pool. Another meet has been scheduled with Furman University, the trip to include a meet with the Spartanburg Y. M. C. A. The team is improving fast with hard practice and training, and we feel that they will surely come through with a fine record in the end.

The men who compose the team are as follows: Ingram, L., captain, Hutchison, E., Johnson, G., Bennett, T., Jones, W., Kitchens, Bull, Atkinson, E., Skelton, Patterson, and Cauthen J.

GOLF

The president has been much distressed lately about holes being dug and grass cut down on the drill field. This destructive work to the beauty of the campus is not done by stray live-stock or rabbits, but by cadet golf enthusiasts. Every evening the never-to-be-daunted golfers are seen going the rounds of their improvised course, and no doubt but what they would be strongly in favor of making a small permanent course on the grounds.

VOLLEY BALL

Volley ball is a form of athletics in which every one can participate. For this reason a number of cadets, who do not go out for the major sports, are seen each evening after classes on the courts, engaging in heated contests. They undoubtedly derive much benefit to their bodies in this exercise, and Mr. Leland, the Y secretary, is to be commended in this effort to give all cadets a chance to exercise themselves.

The building of the new barracks building put the old courts out of commission, but new ones have now been constructed back of the new building, and the games are continued every evening as before. More courts will be built if the interest manifested in this game is increased.

Bull Dogs! Bull Dogs! Bull Dogs!
 Rah, Rah, Rah, Rah.
 Rah, Rah, Rah, Rah!
 Citadel, Citadel, Citadel!

CITADEL, HERE'S TO YOU

Cit-a-del here's to you,
Cit-a-del you're true blue,
You're the best old place to go;
A dern good place, we know,
And you bet we'll fight for you.
Cit-a-del eat 'em up.
Cit-a-del beat 'em up.
We'll twist the Tiger's tail,
And we'll ride him on the rail,
For we're from the C-I-T-A-D-E-L.

DRUB YELL

Drub! Drub! Drub! Drub! Drub!
Drub! Drub! Drub! Drub! Drub!
Give a Drub to Cit-a-del,
Give a Drub to Cit-a-del,
Citadel! Citadel! Drub, Drub!

TO THE TUNE OF "OUR DIRECTOR"

Its Taps for you old Clemson, at last your race is run,
And we have come here, just to see the fun.
When the Bulldog gets busy, and Tiger's tail
does bite,
Purple and Gold falls to the Blue and White.

TO THE TUNE OF "BATTLE HYMN OF THE REPUBLIC"

Pass around the bottle and we'll all take
a drink,
Pass around the bottle and we'll all take
a drink,
Pass around the bottle and we'll all take
a drink,
As we go marching on,
Glory, glory to the Citadel,
Glory, glory to the Citadel,
Glory to The Citadel,

THE LIBRARY

A library is a necessary part of every college. It is the final resort for all those who really seek knowledge on some specific subject or branch of work. We come to college to get a foundation in many different subjects on which to build, and to learn just where we can secure further information on any subject in which we become interested. We find that the library is the one place that can tell us anything and everything, and that the secret of education lies in the ability to use the contents of a good library to the best advantage.

The Citadel library is located on the ground floor in the front part of the Main Barracks. In it are found works of all kinds, history, science, classics; in general, sufficient information on any subject which one needs to be called well educated and cultured. Besides there are also found the most important newspapers, magazines, and other periodic publications of current events and everyday happenings. Good fiction and other recreational readings are also found. You will spend a good part of your college life in the library, so learn how to use it and get the utmost from it.

THE BULL DOG

Every college has its periodic publication by the student body. The Bull Dog is The Citadel newspaper and is published by a staff, composed of men who are interested in such work, every Friday. In it are all accounts of college athletics, campus events, dances, alumni news, editorials expressing school sentiment, in general, everything that is of interest to college men. Every cadet gets a copy and the paper has a wide circulation through the state as well as outside.

THE SPHINX

The Citadel is always proud of The Sphinx. And rightly have we reason to be proud of such a work as the staff of The Sphinx always turns out. The most capable men in the senior class are always in charge of the publishing of this book, and many are the hours of sleep and hard work that they sacrifice to make each publication just a little more perfect than the one before it. All phases of the college work and the life of a cadet are presented in a most attractive way in this book, and always there is much impatience towards the end of each school year to see the new School Annual.

THE MINSTREL

Every spring, a minstrel is put on by a number of cadets who have theatrical aspirations. Most colleges have the glee club, but The Citadel Minstrel is more of a dramatic club or variety show than is the usual type of glee club. Thirty men are about the usual number who take part in the show. An orchestra composed of cadets is also one of the features.

The troop always makes a week's trip over the state. These trips are very attractive to the actors, and are always enjoyed.

Last year the club played in "Come Seven" by Octavus Roy Cohen, a Charlestonian. At that time this show was one of the biggest hits on Broadway. Naturally it made quite a hit every where it was played by the cadets.

The minstrel is presented under the auspices of the Charleston Citadel Club. It is always a success so far as making money is concerned. A part of this money is used by the alumni association for Citadel scholarships.

LETTERS HOME

When you are blue and feel that everything has gone wrong, when you think that nothing is worth while and life holds nothing for you, when something seems to say to you that you are alone and no one around you cares whether you are happy or not, have you ever tried writing a letter home? If you haven't, try it next time you feel out of sorts. Tell the folks at home what you are doing every day, write them about the incidents of interest to all; and if you don't find yourself on top of the world when you finish, then it must be something wrong with you sure enough. Besides, you owe it to those at home, and it is a very small thing to write them regularly. It is one way to show your parents that you appreciate what they are doing for you.

FRIENDS

How many of your associates can you really call friends? How many of your so-called friends can you depend on to stick beside you through thick and thin, in trouble as well as in calm, when you have nothing to offer them as well as when you can be of help to them? As you know, you have but very few. So when you come to college, be sure to pick the right kind of fellows to call friends. You can make friends in college whose friendship you may value all your life, or on the other hand, you can make mere acquaintances who never offer and never intend to offer anything more than fair-weather friendship. You can find numbers of men who are always true, honest, steady and friendly, men of the highest type. So be sure that you pick those who are typical of what you would like for your associates to be.

OUR MILITARY RECORD

The Citadel, The Military College of South Carolina, although at first established as a depository for arms and munitions of war, is now a college that ranks high in both its military and academic lines of instruction. While the academic duties of the cadets have been of first importance since the institution has become a college, it has a military record of which it, or any other institution, may well be proud. Since the establishment of the college in 1842, the Citadel alumni and cadets have played prominent parts in the history of the state, and indeed in some cases, important parts in the history of the nation. Their services were invaluable to their state in that deadly struggle, the War Between the States; and invaluable to the nation in the latter and fiercer conflict, The World War. The list of Citadel officers in both of these wars is an honor-roll of which any institution of instruction, and any state, should be proud. Citadel men have fought for the state on the field of battle, they have fought for the state in time of peace, and they are still fighting and will continue to fight with all their might for the good of the state and nation.

The training which the cadets receive has met the heartiest commendation of the War Department, which has for many years rated the institution as a "Distinguished College." The value of the training to the country is recognized by the government, which furnishes expensive equipment and details competent army officers for the instruction of the Cadets in the Infantry and Artillery Units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. The worth while of this instruction in the duties of the soldier, the science of war, the evolution of the line, and the duties of commissioned officers, is shown by the actions of the men in actual combat.

The complete and generous education which the cadets receive at the Citadel fits them to perform skillfully and justly all the offices of a citizen, both private and public, in time of peace and in time of war. The regular habits, the attention to duty, the obedience to authority, and the love of order instilled into the cadets enable them to live lives of value and worth to mankind. The Citadel releases men into the world who are proud of their Alma Mater, and the Citadel has certainly had every reason to be proud of its alumni.

The greatness of a college is best measured by the actions and achievements of its alumni. The heroic deeds of the Citadel alumni in the Civil War and on the war-swept fields of France, and their activity and prominent part in public affairs have been responsible for the great growth which the school has experienced. The prospects of the school are brighter now than they have ever been before in its history, and the continuance of its growth seems assured. With the assurance of its growth comes the assurance that its alumni will play an even greater and nobler part in public life in the future than they have in the past.

INCREASE IN SIZE OF CORPS

Five years ago when the corps of approximately 250 cadets occupied the buildings of the Greater Citadel on the banks of the Ashley, it was hardly dreamed that within such a short period of time it would be necessary to build additional quarters to accomodate them. However, since that time the corps has increased rapidly, reaching the 400 mark in 1926 and having about 560 men at the close of 1927.

It is natural to expect that this increase in the student body would promote athletics; and it has done so, as the past sucessful seasons will easily show. Now since the school equipment has been greatly added to, a still larger increase in the student body is expected. This will give a larger body from which to select the best athletes, which we hope will continue to improve our teams in all branches of sport.

"STAR OF THE WEST" MEDAL

Each year the Corps of Cadets holds a competitive drill in the manual of arms for the "Star of the West" Medal, a handsome trophy presented to the institution many years ago by Dr. B. H. Teague, a veteran of the Civil War. This medal gets its name from a piece of wood, in the shape of a star, taken from the historic vessel of the same name. To wear this medal is an honor indeed.

THE "WILLSON RING"

This ring, given each year by Dr. John O. Willson, late president of Lander College, is awarded to the member of the Senior Class voted by his classmates "the purest, most courteous, and most manly" cadet in his class.

This is a coveted honor.

THE SCHOLARSHIP MEDAL

This medal is yearly awarded to that member of the Senior Class who has made the highest average during his four years at The Citadel.

THE "W. C. WHITE" MEDAL

This medal is given annually by Mr. W. C. White, '02, and is presented to the captain of the prize company.

The members of the prize company are also permitted to wear on the left sleeve of their Full-Dress Uniform a three-inch bar of gold braid.

THE "JAMES HILL HOLMES, JR." MEDAL

Presented annually by Mrs. J. H. Holmes, Jr., to the captain of Company "A," in memory of her husband, who was captain of Company "A" during his Senior year at The Citadel. Captain Holmes was killed in France in 1918.

RIFLE RANGE

Every spring about the first of April the corps of cadets usually goes on the rifle range for target practice. This practice lasts for about ten days and on the whole is enjoyed by all the cadets, as it is a change and somewhat of a recreation from the every day routine of school life. Furthermore, every one likes to get out for a while and rough it, and this is really a part of the life of the range.

The "Y" has a wonderful chance on the range to help in many ways and it always does its best in every way it can be of service. The mail is always handled as usual. Moving pictures are shown almost every night and of course this is always appreciated by the campers. Then the "Y" puts a lot into the playing of volley ball, which is much enjoyed by all at off hours. Everything possible is done by the "Y" to help make the camp a success.

A SONG OF HOPE

The sun shines somewhere every day
What though your skies seem cloudy;
Go meet your duty on the way,
And stretch your hand for "howdy"!

There never was a day so black
In all the week of seven
When luck or courage turned her back—
When God forsook His Heaven,

Meet fortune with a smiling face;
When comes your task essay it.
And once you find your rightful place
Dare death ere you betray it!

The prizes that men seek are won
By brain and brawn, my neighbor—
And richest blessing 'neath the sun
Is cherry love for labor!

As God paints roses, men paint souls
Our paths are self-selected;
No fish are caught in finger bowls—
And saints are not elected!

Work, sweat has often crowned the slave;
We choose our own ambition;
Toil never filled a paupers grave—
Faith never spoiled a mission!

James Edwin Kerr.

DO THE BEST YOU CAN

Don't fret about the task undone,
But few have filled the plan
Or made the race they set to run ;
No man is perfect 'neath the sun—
Just do the best you can.

There lies no burden on the soul
But trusting it can bear ;
And no one yet has reached the goal
Who never conquered hill and hole—
Stand up and take your share!

'Tis not the shouts and sounding brags
And wealth of conquest baled
That takes a soul-but bloody crags—
Far better go to God in rags
Than tell Him "I have failed"!.....

Be strong ; the whiner's fret but masks
And clouds the vision's scan ;
God ladens none with crushing tasks,
And all he wants and all he asks
Is "do the best you can",

James Edwin Kerr.

AGAINST ODDS,

Suppose for a minute, you stumbled and fell
To the bottom we'll say, of a ninety foot well,
And nobody heard you, or answered
your shout,
Would you lie there and die and not try to get out?

Suppose you were cornered, we'll say, by a brute,
With no one to throw you a rifle to shoot,
With no one to help in your terrible plight,
Would you give up your life, without making a fight?

Well, this little trouble which has you upset,
Is nothing compared to what others
have met;
So why do you whimper and whine at your case,
Why give up and quit without making the race?

Remember, my boy, when you're troubled by doubt,
From caverns of gloom men have worked their way out,
When the fates have you cornered,
your courage must show—
Don't lie down and die at the very first blow.

Edgar A. Guest

THE ROAD TO SUCCESS

There's only one road to success, lad,
The way up the mountain is hard;
It calls for a courage and stress, lad.
With many a slip to retard.

There's many a mile you must cover,
And many a crag you must climb,
Ere toil of the journey is over,
To stand on the hill-top sublime.

Your feet will be blistered and weary,
And often your drink will be tears,
Ere up from the thorny route dreary,
Sound gladly the heartening cheers.

For prizes in life worth the winning
Are only won, laddie, by toil;
And many a splendid beginning
Is wrecked on the rocks of recoil.

The world will applaud you and gladly
When proven the true and the hail,
But he who would cheat the goal madly,
Must fail, laddie, ever must fail!

Theres only one road to success, lad,
I'm singing the truth, little pard.
It calls for a courage and stress, lad—
The way up the mountain is hard!
